

Christian Poem: Freedom, Not Division

Christian Poem on being unified in Christ

Freedom, Not Division

Each soul is deeply troubled
When unable to defend
Its right to its freedom
And the hope to finally end

The tragedy that prejudice
So often seems to bring,
For hate is at its core
And is more than often seen

It must break our Father's heart
To see all this division,
For He loves us all so much,
So, we must make a decision

To have love for one another
And to help each other too,
For our lives are far too short
And true peace is overdue

So, it's time for us right now
To lay the hatred down
And accept our fellow man,
On a shared common ground.

© By M.S.Lowndes

Poems: Not By Race, But By God's Grace | Be United, Not Divided

Devotional: United For The Cause

By using this poem, you signify that you have read & agreed to my 'Terms Of Use'.
<https://www.heavensinspirations.com/terms-of-use.html>