

Christian Poem: The Fruit of God's Character

Christian Poem relating to desiring God's character above what the world offers

The Fruit of God's Character

I long to prosper in your fruit
More than the wealth of the land,
What the world offers, matters not,
It's all like crumbling sand

It has no substance for sustaining life
Of eternal value, I mean
Its only use is for the temporal
In fulfilling worldly dreams

But one day soon it will all be gone
As if it had never been
And when we're standing without it all,
What in us will be seen?

For worldly wealth has no real value,
Nor character to strive for,
For we are nothing when all is revealed
If we lack the fruit of the Lord

I'd rather have the qualities of God,
The fruit of His Spirit inside,
For it's His character that will remain
When we enter eternal life.
